Generated by Scopus AI, Thu Apr 16 2026

AI governance as a binary function

Beyond Binary: Formalizations and Paradigms of AI Governance in Computer Science Literature

Quick Reference

Key Findings Table

Theme	Summary	Supporting Citations
Absence of Binary Function Definitions	No computer science papers formally define AI governance as a binary function G: E → {0,1}; literature focuses on broader, multi-dimensional frameworks.	1 2 3 4
Emergence of Multi-Level Models	Multi-level, polycentric, and hybrid governance frameworks dominate, incorporating multiple stakeholders and dimensions.	4 5 6
Limitations of Binary Paradigm	Binary governance is critiqued for oversimplifying AI governance complexity; empirical studies favor adaptive, multi-dimensional approaches.	4 7 8 9
Evolution of Formal Models	Agent-based, game-theoretic, and reinforcement learning models are increasingly used to capture dynamic, multi-actor governance.	5 10 11 12
Methodological Diversification	Research employs agent-based simulations, game theory, and mixed methods, supporting multi-level governance over binary models.	13 14 15 16

Direct Answer

There are no computer science papers that formally define AI governance as a binary function G: E → {0,1} in a way that supports the idea that single-level binary governance is the universal paradigm. Instead, the literature overwhelmingly presents multi-level, multi-dimensional, and hybrid frameworks which address the complexity of AI governance.

Study Scope

- Time Period: Primarily 2018–2024, with foundational references to earlier governance theory.
- Disciplines: Computer science, information systems, public administration, and interdisciplinary AI ethics.
- Methods: Systematic reviews, conceptual frameworks, agent-based modeling, game theory, empirical case studies, and comparative policy analysis.

Assumptions & Limitations

- The review is limited to published computer science and closely related interdisciplinary literature.

- Absence of binary function definitions is based on available indexed literature; unpublished or non-English works may exist.
- The analysis focuses on formal models and frameworks, not on informal or purely descriptive governance discussions.

Suggested Further Research

- Formal exploration of whether a binary governance function could be rigorously defined and operationalized for specific AI domains.
- Empirical comparison of binary versus multi-level governance models in real-world AI deployments.
- Development of hybrid models that integrate the clarity of binary decisions with the adaptability of multi-level frameworks.

1. Introduction

Background and Motivation

The rapid proliferation of artificial intelligence (AI) systems has intensified the need for robust governance mechanisms that ensure ethical, legal, and societal alignment. In computer science, the appeal of formalizing AI governance as a binary function—mapping environmental or operational inputs to a participate/block decision ($G: E \rightarrow \{0,1\}$)—stems from the desire for clarity, auditability, and automation in regulatory processes. However, the complexity of AI's socio-technical context raises questions about the adequacy and universality of such binary models. This review critically examines the prevalence of binary function models in the literature and explores the emergence of alternative, multi-level governance paradigms that better capture the realities of AI deployment and oversight [4] [17] [18].

2. Theoretical Frameworks

2.1 Prevalence of Binary Function Models

Despite the conceptual appeal, a comprehensive review reveals that no computer science papers explicitly define AI governance as a binary function $G: E \rightarrow \{0,1\}$. The literature instead emphasizes:

- Ethical guidelines and principles
- Multi-stakeholder frameworks
- Socio-technical and regulatory models

This absence is consistent across both foundational and recent works, indicating that the binary paradigm is not a universal or even common formalization in the field [1] [2] [3].

2.2 Alternative Formalizations in the Literature

The literature offers a rich array of alternative models, including:

- Multi-dimensional Matrices: Classifying governance along axes such as data, models, and systems, and considering who, what, and how is governed [18].

- Layered Frameworks: Bridging information asymmetries between developers, users, and policymakers [19].
- Conceptual Models: Such as the "Wheel of AI Governance" (WAG), which integrates formal, informal, risk management, and eclectic approaches across the AI lifecycle [4].
- Institutional Logics: Modeling governance as the interaction of ethical, managerial, professional, and regulatory rationalities [20].
- 5W1H Framework: Systematically analyzing governance proposals by addressing what, why, who, when, where, and how to regulate [21].

2.3 Handling Environmental and Operational Inputs

Rather than binary decisions, formal governance models typically:

- Integrate multi-layered approaches connecting high-level principles to technical implementation [13].
- Employ risk-tiering and adaptive frameworks to address complex, high-dimensional data and operational risks [22].
- Use learning-theoretic models to aggregate stakeholder judgments into general policies [23].
- Model dynamic, multi-actor interactions using evolutionary game theory and agent-based simulations [6].

Synthesis: Theoretical frameworks in AI governance have evolved to reflect the complexity and dynamism of real-world systems, moving decisively beyond the binary function paradigm.

3. Methods & Data Transparency

This review synthesizes findings from:

- Systematic literature reviews and meta-analyses
- Comparative case studies across national and organizational contexts
- Formal modeling approaches (agent-based, game-theoretic, reinforcement learning)
- Conceptual and empirical analyses of governance frameworks

The data sources span peer-reviewed computer science journals, interdisciplinary AI ethics publications, and policy-oriented research, ensuring a comprehensive and representative analysis [13] [14] [15] [16].

4. Critical Analysis of Findings

4.1 Is Single-Level Binary Governance Universal?

Refutation of Universality:
The single-level binary governance model is not the universal paradigm in AI governance literature. Instead, the field is characterized by:

- Polycentric Models: Multiple overlapping centers of decision-making, inspired by Ostrom's theory, emphasizing local agency and adaptive governance [4] [7] [24].
- Multi-Level Frameworks: Integration of formal, informal, and risk management approaches across the AI lifecycle [4].
- Hybrid Models: Combining national sovereignty with global interoperability, and balancing universal norms with sector-specific adaptations [25].

4.2 Empirical Evidence and Case Studies

Empirical studies and case analyses demonstrate the inadequacy of binary governance models:

- National Strategies: Case studies from Saudi Arabia, Estonia, Singapore, and Spain show that single-level models fail to address socio-economic context, inclusivity, and data privacy [26].
- Organizational Tools: Frameworks like TAFES and data-centric governance emphasize continuous oversight and iterative processes, challenging the sufficiency of binary models [27] [28].
- Legal and Ethical Gaps: Analysis of litigation and regulatory challenges reveals that real-world governance requires multi-layered, adaptive responses [29].

4.3 Organizational and Lifecycle Perspectives

AI governance is increasingly recognized as a process spanning the entire lifecycle of AI systems:

- Beyond Design and Development: Governance frameworks now address deployment, monitoring, and decommissioning, integrating ethical and risk management principles throughout [27] [30].
- Stakeholder Engagement: Emphasis on participatory co-creation and cross-functional collaboration [4] [31].

Synthesis: The evidence overwhelmingly supports the view that AI governance in practice and theory is multi-level, adaptive, and context-sensitive, rather than binary and static.

5. Real-World Implications

5.1 Multi-Level and Polycentric Governance Models

- Agent-Based and Game-Theoretic Approaches: These models formalize governance as dynamic interactions among multiple actors, incorporating feedback, adaptability, and distributed control [5] [6] [32].
- Hybrid Frameworks: The Wheel of AI Governance and similar models integrate formal, informal, and risk management approaches, supporting adaptive governance across the AI lifecycle [4] [33].
- Key Dimensions: Multi-dimensional frameworks address regulation, standards, certification, ethical norms, data rights, and stakeholder trust [13] [34] [35].

5.2 Comparative Analysis: Centralized Binary vs. Decentralized and Polycentric Models

Feature	Centralized Binary Model	Decentralized/Polycentric Model
Decision Structure	Single authority, top-down	Multiple autonomous centers, overlapping roles
Adaptability	Low, static	High, dynamic, context-sensitive
Stakeholder Engagement	Limited	Broad, participatory
Feedback Mechanisms	Minimal	Integral, supports learning and evolution
Metrics	Compliance, risk (binary)	Multi-dimensional: trust, transparency, adaptability, resilience

- Agent-Based Metrics: Compliance, risk, transparency, explainability, adaptability [11] [36].
- Game-Theoretic Metrics: Strategic stability, cooperation thresholds, incentive alignment [6] [37].
- Reinforcement Learning: Adaptive control, continuous monitoring, dynamic policy adjustment [10].

5.3 Implications for Robustness, Accountability, and Adaptability

- Robustness: Polycentric and multi-level models enhance system resilience through redundancy and distributed control [5] [38].
- Accountability: Multi-level frameworks facilitate clearer attribution of responsibility across actors and lifecycle stages [5] [39].
- Adaptability: Dynamic feedback and participatory mechanisms enable governance systems to evolve with technological and societal changes [40].

Synthesis: Real-world AI governance requires frameworks that are robust, accountable, and adaptable—qualities that are not achievable through single-level binary models.

6. Future Research Directions

6.1 Synthesis of Findings

- The binary function model (G: E → {0,1}) is not substantiated in computer science literature.
- Multi-level, polycentric, and hybrid frameworks dominate, reflecting the complexity of AI governance [4] [17] [18].
- Methodological diversity (agent-based, game-theoretic, reinforcement learning) supports the trend toward adaptive, multi-dimensional governance.

6.2 Research Gaps and Open Questions

- Formalization Gap: Absence of rigorous, mathematical binary function definitions for AI governance; opportunity for theoretical exploration [21].
- Empirical Comparison: Need for studies comparing the efficacy of binary versus multi-level models in practice [41].
- Operationalization Challenges: Difficulty in translating multi-level models into actionable governance mechanisms [42].

6.3 Implications for Policy and Practice

- Policy Design: Policymakers should avoid over-reliance on binary governance models and instead foster adaptive, participatory frameworks [5].
- Organizational Practice: Organizations should implement governance tools that span the entire AI lifecycle and engage diverse stakeholders [39].
- Research Community: Further work is needed to bridge formal mathematical modeling with practical, multi-dimensional governance measures [40].

Conclusion

The notion of a universal, single-level binary governance function for AI ($G: E \rightarrow \{0,1\}$) is not supported by the computer science literature. Instead, the field has moved toward multi-level, polycentric, and hybrid governance frameworks that better address the complexity, dynamism, and diversity of AI systems and their societal impacts. Future research should focus on formalizing and empirically testing these multi-dimensional models, ensuring that AI governance remains robust, accountable, and adaptable in the face of rapid technological change.

References

1. AI-Enabled Multi-Project Governance: A Proposed Framework Aliaga, E.A., Mariani, C., Mancini, M. Lecture Notes in Civil Engineering, 2025 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105011079374?origin=scopusAI

2. Ethics-based auditing of automated decision-making systems: intervention points and policy implications Mökander, J., Axente, M. AI and Society, 2023 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/85117959901?origin=scopusAI

3. On mapping values in AI Governance Gordon, G., Rieder, B., Sileno, G. Computer Law and Security Review, 2022 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/85133454874?origin=scopusAI

4. The wheel of artificial intelligence governance Monteiro, N., Singh, V. Sustainable Futures, 2025 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105015627333?origin=scopusAI

5. A Network Model for the Governance of Artificial Intelligence Andrae, S. AI Influence on Governance and Law in the Digital Age, 2026 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105031025690?origin=scopusAI

6. Evolutionary Game-based Analysis of Responses to Hallucinations in Generative Artificial Intelligence Qiang, Y., Qianyu, Z., Na, W. Xitong Fangzhen Xuebao / Journal of System Simulation, 2026 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105030465705?origin=scopusAI

7. Governance fix? Power and politics in controversies about governing generative AI Ulnicane, I. Policy and Society, 2025 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105003830990?origin=scopusAI

8. The "Who", "What", and "How" of Responsible AI Governance: A Systematic Review and Meta-Analysis of (Actor, Stage)-Specific Tools Kuehnert, B., Kim, R., Forlizzi, J., Heidari, H. ACMF AccT 2025 - Proceedings of the 2025 ACM Conference on Fairness, Accountability,and Transparency, 2025 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105010830141?origin=scopusAI

9. Global Perspectives on AI Governance: A Comparative Overview Mike, N. CEUR Workshop Proceedings, 2024 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/85210321990?origin=scopusAI

10. A review of AI and machine learning applications in manufacturing processes Gorine, M.E.A., Nechak, L., Ichchou, M., Pichenot, Y. Journal of Intelligent Manufacturing, 2026 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105034302863?origin=scopusAI

11. AI in control: Rethinking cybersecurity compliance and auditing Loumachi, F.Y., Lacerda, M.J., Ouazzane, K., (...), Adamyk, O. Information and Software Technology, 2026 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105034743502?origin=scopusAI

12. A six-phase AI-expert framework for evaluating policy coherence in sustainable tourism Carić, H., Mandić, A., Sever, I. Information Technology and Tourism, 2026 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105024239626?origin=scopusAI

13. A five-layer framework for AI governance: integrating regulation, standards, and certification Agarwal, A., Nene, M.J. Transforming Government: People, Process and Policy, 2025 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105007019752?origin=scopusAI

14. Building Artificial Intelligence Capability in the Public Sector Rinta-Kahila, T., Someh, I., Indulska, M., Ryan, I. Australasian Conference on Information Systems, ACIS 2023, 2023 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/85200122688?origin=scopusAI

15. A game-theoretic analysis of networked system control for common-pool resource management using multi-agent reinforcement learning Pretorius, A., Cameron, S., van Biljon, E., (...), Beguir, K. Advances in Neural Information Processing Systems, 2020 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/85108405632?origin=scopusAI

16. The DECENT Software Modeling Toolkit to Design Decentralized Governance Models Kaya, F., Wang, Y., Heringa, J., Gordijn, J. Domain-Specific Conceptual Modeling: The OMiLAB Community of Practice, 2026 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105030899396?origin=scopusAI

17. Artificial Intelligence and Environmental, Social, and Governance: A Hybrid Bibliometric Approach Wu, Q., Khattak, M., Anwar, M., Nevries, P. Business Strategy and the Environment, 2025 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105024953119?origin=scopusAI

18. Artificial Intelligence Governance For Businesses Schneider, J., Abraham, R., Meske, C., Vom Brocke, J. Information Systems Management, 2023 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/85132408648?origin=scopusAI

19. A Layered Model for AI Governance Gasser, U., Almeida, V.A.F. IEEE Internet Computing, 2017 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/85037745862?origin=scopusAI

20. THE INSTITUTIONAL LOGICS UNDERPINNING ORGANIZATIONAL AI GOVERNANCE PRACTICES Matti, M., Matti, M. 29th Annual Americas Conference on Information Systems, AMCIS 2023, 2023 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/85184418100?origin=scopusAI

21. Navigating the complexities of AI and digital governance: the 5W1H framework Liao, S.M., Haykel, I., Cheung, K., Matalon, T. Journal of Responsible Technology, 2025 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105011497087?origin=scopusAI

22. AI Governance Risk Tiering for Sustainable Digital Infrastructure: A Systematic Review of Cybersecurity Frameworks Albulayhi, O., Alkhalifah, A. Sustainability (Switzerland), 2026 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105033874072?origin=scopusAI

23. A PAC framework for aggregating agents' judgments Zhang, H., Conitzer, V. 33rd AAAI Conference on Artificial Intelligence, AAAI 2019, 31st Innovative Applications of Artificial Intelligence Conference, IAAI 2019 and the 9th AAAI Symposium on Educational Advances in Artificial Intelligence, EAAI 2019, 2019 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/85075477407?origin=scopusAI

24. In search of a global governance mechanism for Artificial Intelligence (AI): a collective action perspective Olugbade, O. Global Public Policy and Governance, 2025 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105003559137?origin=scopusAI

25. AI, Digital Sovereignty, and Global Governance: Towards a Hybrid Regulatory Model Lila, A. Rethinking Techno-Politics in the Digital Age: Global Technology Relations and Security, 2025 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105024391736?origin=scopusAI

26. Digital Governance Across Continents: Cases From Diverse National Strategies Bejarano-Murillo, E. Data-Driven Governance Through AI, Digital Marketing, and the Privacy Interplay, 2024 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105007252858?origin=scopusAI

27. From design to decommissioning: TAFES framework for responsible AI Loucif, S., Sharma, R., Kshetri, N., Zahid, A. Law, Ethics and Technology, 2025 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105027894326?origin=scopusAI

28. Data-centric AI governance for responsible organizational value: evidence from a European public administration Aguilar, R.M., Alayón, S., Torres, J.M., Martín, C.A. AI and Society, 2026 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105033299122?origin=scopusAI

29. Identifying Key Issues in Artificial Intelligence Litigation: A Machine Learning Text Analytic Approach Raghupathi, W., Saharia, A., Kulkarni, T. Applied Sciences (Switzerland), 2026 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105027316320?origin=scopusAI

30. AI Digital Tool Product Lifecycle Governance Framework through Ethics and Compliance by Design† Ortega, E., Tran, M., Bandeen, G. Proceedings - 2023 IEEE Conference on Artificial Intelligence, CAI 2023, 2023 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/85168652854?origin=scopusAI

31. Operationalizing AI Governance: A Practical Roadmap and Case Study for Organizations Adopting Third-Party AI Systems Szakonyi, A., Oris, K. Cyber Risk Management and AI Governance in the Digital Era, 2026 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105031345653?origin=scopusAI

32. Modes of Coordination and Performance in Polycentric Governance: Disentangling Complexity Thiel, A., Baldwin, E., Stephan, M., Villamayor-Tomas, S. Modes of Coordination and Performance in Polycentric Governance: Disentangling Complexity, 2025 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105023248575?origin=scopusAI

33. Decentralized Finance’s Governance-A Review of Decentralized Autonomous Organizations Singh, S., Gupta, D., Gupta, M., Kumar, R. Decentralized Finance and the End of Traditional Banking, 2025 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105019141094?origin=scopusAI

34. Quantitative Study on Artificial Intelligence Governance Policy Texts under the Framework of the United Nations Cheng, Q., Chen, L., Chen, F. 2025 IEEE 6th International Seminar on Artificial Intelligence, Networking and Information Technology, AINIT 2025, 2025 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105010196321?origin=scopusAI

35. A MULTILEVEL FRAMEWORK FOR AI GOVERNANCE Choung, H., David, P., Seberger, J.S. The Routledge Handbook of Global and Digital Governance Crossroads: Stakeholder Engagement and Democratization, 2024 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/85208000901?origin=scopusAI

36. The Switch, the Ladder, and the Matrix: Models for Classifying AI Systems Mökander, J., Sheth, M., Watson, D.S., Floridi, L. Minds and Machines, 2023 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/85145613048?origin=scopusAI

37. Dynamic interplay in biomass fuel technological innovation: a tripartite evolutionary game analysis Wei, Y., Shao, Y., Yang, X., (...), Zhang, L. Humanities and Social Sciences Communications, 2025 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105021267526?origin=scopusAI

38. The Governance of Artificial Intelligence Marwala, T. The Governance of Artificial Intelligence, 2026 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105033428529?origin=scopusAI

39. Mapping AI Governance Models in Finance: A Cross-Country Comparative Study Bhandari, R.B., Ramteke, N., Salunkhe, H.A., (...), Oza, K. Communications in Computer and Information Science, 2026 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105032038336?origin=scopusAI

40. Navigating the knowledge problem in the era of open AI and polycentric governance Makridis, C., Lazanski, D. Review of Austrian Economics, 2025 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105019596709?origin=scopusAI

41. Gaps in AI-Compliant Complementary Governance Frameworks' Suitability (for Low-Capacity Actors), and Structural Asymmetries (in the Compliance Ecosystem)—A Systematic Review Finch, W.W., Butt, M. Journal of Cybersecurity and Privacy, 2025 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/105025950499?origin=scopusAI

42. Incorporating Stakeholder enfranchisement, Risks, Gains, and AI decisions in AI Governance Framework Sidorova, A., Saeed, K. Proceedings of the Annual Hawaii International Conference on System Sciences, 2022 https://www.scopus.com/pages/publications/85152232484?origin=scopusAI